“ William,
You had my heart from the day I found out your mother was pregnant with you. I always wanted a brother. You were so loved even before you were born. We were so close as kids. As a big sister, I tried to protect you the best I could. As we grew older, we may not have always seen eye to eye on things (most things) but there were times, we did click and come nsync with one another. And even though we didn't always agree on things, my love for you never waivered. As adults, I tried my best to be the best sister I could (sometimes it was very hard), I still tried to protect you as much as you would let me. You were so loved William , I hope in the end you realized that. I know the pain and suffering you went thru with the loss of my dad, and your dad, the sickness and the depression. Just know although I'm very sad you are gone, my heart rejoices knowing you are know longer suffering, no longer in pain and no longer depressed. I will see you again one day my brother. Until we meet again, I love you!
Love always,
Sissy (Edna)

“ You were one of the sweetest souls I ever knew. You will be deeply missed and never forgotten. I loved our conversations and debates in high school. I'm glad we were able to reconnect as adults and continue our friendship prior to you leaving this earth. I know you are an angel in Heaven looking down on us.

“ I sat with Williams a few times while he stranded in St. Vincent hospital. He has a beautiful soul and highly intelligent. I will always remember when he told me with the biggest smile on his face that, I'm one of the few who understand him and can some up with he was thinking". He was full of excitement and positive spirit. We have each other encouraging words. Edna and the family I am sending my condolences to you.
